Administration Plans To Work Projects To Be Pro-

cording To Needs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Roosevelt's plan to substitute work relief for the dole calls for a complete shut down on direct federal relief within six months.

By June 30, the President wants his proposed joint work relief-public works program underway and carrying a payroll of 3,500,000 workers now on straight relief.

At the same time, the executive expects the 1,500,000 unemployed of whom he plans to strip federal relief rolls, to be back on the hands of the states, municipalities, and private relief agencies.

To Disclose Plans
These plans will be disclosed when Mr. Roosevelt within the next few days send to congress his legislative suggestions for setting up the new program.

When it is all carried through, Harry L. Hopkins, now in charge of federal emergency relief, will be as an even larger figure in the New Deal than he is today. He will have an important say-so in the allocation of money for new public works projects. The reason for this lies in the fact the President wants public works distributed with considerable regard for the unemployment needs of the various localities throughout the nation.

The work of paring down the emergency relief rolls and building up the work relief rolls of public works will begin as soon as congress enacts legislation for the new setup. The President believes it can all be completed by the end of the current fiscal year. Then, direct relief will be a thing of the past.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Standing on the corner of East Long avenue and South Mill street, on Friday afternoon, watching a number of motorists disregard the light, several aged citizens of the South Side looked at Young Pa New and remarked: "Some drivers wonder why they receive tags." Two motorists went through the light at a rate of 35 miles an hour, it was estimated.

What Boy Scouts can do with Christmas trees just can't be imagined. We're told that different talented boys have fashioned a variety of useful things out of trees which decorated homes during the holidays. Perhaps in your backyard is a tree which some neighborhood youngster would like for the same purpose.

Well, everyone seems to be wondering these days just how long New Castle's old post office will remain vacant. It certainly looks dark at night.

At the Federal building you're saved the job of guessing where offices are located now because a directory locates them for you. As yet only three second floor offices are occupied but within another week there will be more tenants.

Films that have entertained several hundred New Castle citizens, young and old, during the past week or so are those which M. L. Nixon, naval recruiter here, received from U. S. Navy headquarters in Pittsburgh. (Continued On Page Two)

John B. Shaw of Washington township will head the Supervisors and Auditors Association of Lawrence County for the coming year, his election being consummated Friday afternoon at the convention held in the court house. With him were elected John W. Cox, vice president, who also was elected as secretary, and Doris L. Fulman as treasurer.

Dr. Frederick Taylor of Pulaski township and E. E. Conway of North Beaver township were elected as delegates to the annual state convention of supervisors to be held February 12 and 13 in Harrisburg and Frank Smith of Shenango and H. J. Kenehan of Union township were elected as alternates.

Resolutions Passed
Several resolutions were passed by the delegates before the close of the convention. For the most part they had to do with requests for more money for road supervisors. One resolution urged the amending the Parkinon Act so that the $117 per mile allowed for township roads should be paid to the supervisors instead of being handled by the State Highway department.

Another would have an act similar to the Williamson Act passed in the 1935 session of the General Assembly. (Continued On Page Two)

"Baby Face" Nelson's Widow Gives Evidence Against Dillinger Gangster

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—With the help of George "Baby Face" Nelson's widow, federal officials today were setting the stage for the trial and possible death sentence of another accused Dillinger gangster.

Appearing before the federal grand jury Mrs. Helen Gillis, Nelson's widow, told of the machine gun battle at Barrington, Ill., Nov. 27 in which federal agents Samuel Cowley and Herman Hollis were killed and her husband fatally wounded.

Nelson's alleged companion in the gun battle, John Paul Chase, is already under indictment for the murder of Hollis, and United States Attorney Dwight Green today sought a second indictment against Chase for the murder of Cowley. Mrs. Gillis, who witnessed the gun battle from a nearby ditch, was reported to have given the grand jurors an eyewitness account of the bloody gun-play. Heavily guarded by federal agents, Mrs. Gillis was brought here from the Milan, Mich., prison farm.

Leaders In Congress Will Rush Legislation On President's Program

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Senate and House leaders today rushed work on legislation to put in effect President Roosevelt's 1935-36 program, following a conference at the White House lasting well into the night.

Immediate legislation will be drafted, including:
1. Transfer of $880,000,000 in unexpended appropriations under various heads to finance unemployment relief until April;
2. A new public works program to begin by April;
3. A single bill embodying the President's ideas on "security", which includes old-age pensions, unemployed insurance and similar plans;

4. Special bills and legislation putting into effect other details of the program outlined in the President's message.

Relief funds were put first. Senator Robinson, Democratic floor leader, explained, because current available money is almost exhausted. He estimated $880,000,000 could be scraped together from existing unexpended appropriations and transferred by necessary legislation for this purpose.

He explained it was not contemplated that this amount would necessarily be expended, but would carry unemployment relief until workers could be absorbed in the new program.

Allegheny River Near Flood Stage

(International News Service)
BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 5.—Fearful of a sudden thaw, residents along upper Allegheny river prepared today for any flood emergency resulting from an ice jam which this week caused two highways to be covered by water.

Although receding, water still covered the Warren-Bradford highway and a spur leading to the Cornplanter Indian reservation. Motorists were permitted to travel at their own risk.

It was feared that a quick thaw might release a torrent of flood waters, now dormant as an ice pack.

Defense Counsel Casts Shadow Of Suspicion On Hopewell Employes

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 5.—Edward J. Reilly, a master showman of the courtroom, today had cast the shadow of suspicion on at least seven other persons in an attempt to save from the electric chair Bruno Richard Hauptmann, on trial for the murder of baby Lindbergh.

By innuendo, so bold at times as to amount almost to accusation, the chief defense counsel showed, in his cross-examination of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, how it may have been possible for others than his client to have kidnapped the baby; how much easier it might have been for some of them to do it; how at least one of these persons might have had a motive for the crime.

Sensational Insinuation.

Laval And Mussolini In Conference At Rome

(International News Service)

ROME, Jan. 5.—In an atmosphere of cordiality Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France today held the first of a series of conversations with Premier Benito Mussolini at his office in the Venetian Palace.

While no announcement was immediately forthcoming as to the subject of today's talk, it was reliably understood that the two statesmen plunged immediately into the important question of Austrian independence.

A joint declaration that Austrian integrity must be maintained is expected to be followed by a proposal that France and Austria's contiguous neighbors agree not to interfere with each other internally.

Besides a closer Franco-Italian rapprochement, the way will probably be opened for closer cooperation in such matters as the trade of the Danubian countries.

One report today said that France would offer Italy a free hand in African expansion, particularly in Abyssinia.

The conversations, which will undoubtedly have a great influence on European tranquility, will be resumed tomorrow.

When he hit those "holding companies" he must have hit a popular note, for I could hear even a few scattering Republican hands.

He dug up three new initials for a new unemployment work program. "Big business" had its ear to the ground, but all they got in it was dust.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 5.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann today was figuratively reeling from hammer blows dealt him by the state at his trial for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

The furtive, poker-faced ex-convict has had a bad week in court. His trial adjourned until Monday, he was alone with his thoughts today as he paced his cell in the Hunterdon county jail, smoking incessantly and hiding his feelings. His guards thought he seemed a bit shaken by the dramatic happenings of the past few days but they were not sure. Nobody can quite figure Bruno Hauptmann.

Shove Towards Chair

Hauptmann saw no less a personage than Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh give him a shove in the direction of the electric chair when he twice accused him of the kidnapping and murder of his son. First, when Lindbergh said it was Hauptmann's voice he heard in St. Raymond's cemetery calling "hey, doctor" to Dr. John F. (Jafie) Condon, when Condon was delivering

EARLE GETS STATE FINANCE FORECAST

Sees Huge Sums Must Be Raised

Administration Faces Necessity Of Speedy Action Early This Year

LARGE DEFICIT SEEN BY EXPERTS

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 5.—Governor-elect George H. Earle today was studying a gloomy picture of Pennsylvania's finances as painted by his committee of prominent business and financial experts headed by Luther A. Harr, secretary of banking-designate.

If the new Democratic state administration is to blame the budget for the biennium ending May, 1937, the committee reported, it must raise $225,000,000 in new taxes.

Pressing Problems

But, a still more immediate and pressing problem presents itself to the committee, in the urgent necessity to raise $36,200,000 in cash between the time of Earle's inauguration on January 15 and May 31. This sum must be raised, according to the committee, if collapse of normal governmental functions and utter discontinuance of present relief obligations are to be averted.

The committee named by governor-elect Earle on November 17 to probe the commonwealth's finances and submit recommendations is composed of Dr. Harr, chairman; Frederick A. Heim, Williamsport banker; Col. Louis J. Kolb, Philadelphia financier; and Dr. Marion K. McKay, economist of the University of Pittsburgh.

In its report to Earle the committee declared that the Gifford Pinchot administration will expire leaving an actual deficit of $18,000,000. This figure, the committee said does not take into consideration failure to make provision for the raising of $15,000,000 for relief appropriations for next March, April and May.

TESTIMONY DEALS SOME HARD BLOWS

The $50,000 ransom money to the supposed kidnappers. And, secondly, when Lindbergh under cross-examination expressed the opinion that Hauptmann was the man who kidnapped his baby.

And if that was not enough to give the inscrutable Hauptmann something to worry about there was the appearance of Anne Morrow Lindbergh, mother of the slain child on the stand. Mrs. Lindbergh's testimony, it is generally believed, had a tremendous effect upon the jury of four women and eight men, most of them parents.

Mrs. Lindbergh identified the sleeping garments of her baby which were handed to her on the stand. The impression left in the minds of the jury when she took those garments in her hand and bravely fought off any showing of emotion was unquestionably a lasting one.

It was a hard blow at Hauptmann when chief defense counsel Edward J. Reilly, in cross-examining Lindbergh, asked the famous flyer point blank:

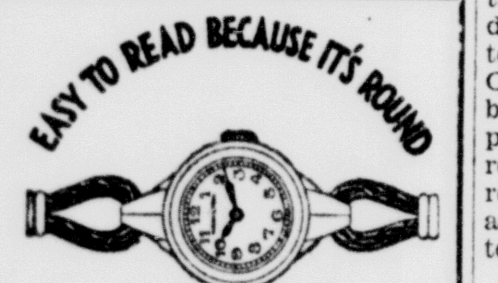

Believes Hauptmann Guilty

"Do you believe now that Hauptmann is guilty?"

"I do," replied Lindbergh, looking the defense lawyer squarely in the eye.

Defense Attorney Reilly, in his cross-examination of witnesses, left the impression he was groping for an opening to pin the crime on somebody else than Hauptmann. But, in spite of all his efforts, he has as yet failed to implicate any person other than the defendant.

Reilly tried to get Lindbergh to admit that he was convinced the serting an advertisement in a newspaper offering a $1,000 reward for return of the baby. This advertisement led to the contact which resulted in the fruitless ransom payment of $50,000.

After stressing the peculiarity of the role "Jafsic" played and the fact he was alone when paying the ransom, Reilly suddenly boomed:

"Didn't it ever occur to you a master mind might have inserted an ad in the paper, then answered it himself?"

Lindbergh turned chalk white at the suggestion, but quickly answered in a thin, dry voice:

"That's inconceivable."

Hints At Possibilities

Reilly then, through adroit questions, showed how easy it would have been for any of the servants in the big, sprawling Lindbergh mansion at Hopewell to have taken the baby from the house or handed it to someone at the window of the nursery. Reilly mentioned by name all of those servants—Betty Gow, the nurse; the late Ollie Whately, the former English butler; Mrs. Whately.

He also mentioned Violet Sharp, the maid in the Morrow home in Englewood, who committed suicide before police had finished questioning her. He insinuated a Danish chauffeur for the Morrows, named Ellison, had been unaccounted for during part of the night of the crime. The ransom notes are believed to have been written by either a Scandinavian or German.

He asked if Lindbergh had not incurred the enmity of an aviator known as "Swede" Anderson during his aerial flying days.

The attorney inferred again and again that Lindbergh long believed a gang, not an individual, had slain his son. Reilly repeatedly mentioned the "Purple" gang of Detroit.

sembly, giving a substantial amount of money to road supervisors for maintenance of their township roads. Other resolutions had to do with taxes. The supervisors asked some relief from present realty taxes, recorded themselves as being against any legislation that provided for increases in taxes.

Several Speakers

Several speakers addressed the convention during the afternoon session. John W. Patterson, president of the Tax Justice League spoke on the plan of the league. He cited facts and figures showing that the burden on realty had been increasing until now it had reached a place where something had to be done if ownership was to remain with the individual. He asked the co-operation of the supervisors in the fight for more equitable taxation in Pennsylvania.

Attorney C. H. Akens was introduced and asked the co-operation of the supervisors in the formation of a "Co-Operative Association" that was to be formed soon. This association would have for its purpose the advancement of Lawrence county interests and the promulgation of governmental ideas that would be of benefit to the taxpayer.

COUNTY SENDS 40 FOR CCC SERVICE

Nine Lawrence county applicants were rejected yesterday by examiners, and one or two others flatly refused to go to camp because their fathers, not recipients of relief, were not named beneficiaries to the $25 monthly pay the boys would receive. Regulations provide that beneficiaries must be relief individuals, but any boy can enter a CCC camp by selecting a relief person not related to him as the one to receive the pay. This had been done in the case of those who refused.

LYNCHING IN 1934

EVEN in its most favorable aspects, lynching is not a pleasant subject for discussion, serving as it does to remind us of the thin line that separates the natures of human beings from those of the beasts.

However, there is a measure of gratification in the knowledge that not more than fifteen persons were lynched in the year that has just passed. This is important news because it represents progress.

There have been years in which as high as 231 men were executed by mobs, often inflamed by drinking orgies, and for many years the average ranged between a hundred and two hundred.

Of late, however, the trend has been definitely downward and, in consequence, there arises in hopeful minds a renewed confidence that this evil will ultimately be eliminated from our national life.

We cannot with reason lay claim to the attainment of a high state of civilization until that objective has been reached.

IT DEPENDS UPON INDUSTRY

Officials of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration expect, under the program of controlled production, that farm income this year will exceed that of last year. In 1934 the cash income from agriculture increased one billion dollars to a total of six billions of dollars as compared with the previous year. And this increase, it is pointed out, took place despite the worst drought in the history of the country. So, if plans work out as anticipated, the farmers will have an income this year in excess of six billions.

When calculations regarding the future are made, there usually is an "it" somewhere involved in the figures. In the case of agriculture, it is said the expected increase is largely dependent upon further gains in industrial activity. In the final analysis, the return to prosperity rests almost entirely upon industry. If industry gets moving at a good pace, with the workers earning good incomes, the upturn will be immediately reflected in all other activities.

We cannot get along without farm products. They really are the basis of our existence. But the price the farmers receive for them is largely dependent upon the ability of industrial workers to pay. Thus agriculture and industry are interdependent, to a large extent, and certainly as far as the agriculturist making a profit on his labor and investment is concerned. The farmer should be greatly encouraged in his belief that his cash income will be increased by the indications that industry is on the upswing, and that industrial leaders express confidence it will continue to move in that direction.

GARLIC AND CABBAGE

Among right-thinking people there will be general regret over the report from Paris that a distinguished French scientist has succeeded, after lengthy experimentation, in grafting garlic and cabbage plants. This is just another evidence of the trivial, futile and even vicious ends which science is compelled to serve by men lacking in a proper conception of its dignity and importance in the scheme of life.

There are varying opinions concerning the palatability of cabbage. There are hearty, robust souls who sing its praises, others with whom it finds little favor. Friends and critics alike agree, however, that it is an honest sort of vegetable, redolent of the soil, and with certain health-giving qualities that are really important to physical welfare.

French encyclopedias define garlic as "an onion of an odor very strong." This is but a half-truth, gently expressed.

Why should the pure art of science be corrupted by the utilization of its powers for the grafting of garlic and cabbage plants? No acceptable answer can be given and righteous people can only lament the sins committed in the fair name of science.

RENO DIVORCES TO INCREASE

During the past few days the newspapers have carried many optimistic predictions concerning the outlook for the new year. And the public is hoping they will be verified. But there is one forecast which, if it comes true, will not be to the credit of the nation.

Those who specialize in divorce proceedings in the Nevada courts predict 1935 will bring Reno and the state more prominent persons for divorces than during the past two years. Some of them even believe the year may approach the boom that followed establishment of the six-weeks' residence law.

In the year 1934, 2,941 suits were filed, and 2,789 divorces granted in Reno, bringing at least $500,000 to the state. From the financial standpoint the divorce mill may be a success, but easy divorces do not benefit the country. In many instances divorces may be justified, but when they are handed out over the counter in almost promiscuous fashion there is something wrong with the system.

EXPANDING CCC IS PLAN

News from Washington is to the effect that the president is considering asking congress not only to continue the Civilian Conservation Corps but to expand it to almost three times its present size. It is stated that improvement of the numerous national and state forests and parks would provide work for a corps of a million men for fifty years.

It is doubtful if congress will show much reluctance to follow this recommendation. Whatever may be said about other New Deal policies, this one at least, seems to have sold itself to the country at large. To begin with we have reached a new realization of the need for work of the kind the CCC is doing. Beyond that there is the fact that the corps has saved many young men for good citizenship.

In hundreds upon hundreds of cases it has been quite literally, a life-saver.

Many a woman who goes on a diet finds that she is a poor loser.

We can see nothing mysterious or inscrutable about the Japanese. First they tell us they are going to tell us they disapprove of the naval agreement; then they tell us.

Now that it's been decided that there are no people on Mars, the joke seems to be on those citizens of our own planet who have been receiving messages from there.

Peace is seen in Europe, prosperity here at home. Even the stock market is optimistic, while economic observers are still surprised at the volume of holiday business. Perhaps it will be a Happy New Year, after all.

I SEE A MAN WORKING

There's a man out there in his apple orchard. I see him working. Up and down the rows he goes, pruning his trees. Those bare trees that were so heavily laden a few weeks ago with such a rich crop of golden apples.... He got but little for those apples, hardly more than enough to pay for picking them. All the year through he had worked on them. He had disked the ground. He pruned them last fall as he pruned them now as the sap retreats. He strayed them against aphids and scale. He watched them anxiously, proudly, all through the summer. He hired pickers and did most of the work himself, boxed them and loaded them on his truck and carried them down to the plant by the railroad station. He carried the culls to the drier and what the drier wouldn't take he fed to the farm animals.... Some days he worked 12 and 14 hours, from early in the morning until late in the evening, and went to bed dog-tired, more tired, I'd say, than any dog that ever was.... And after the harvest was in, the check he received was pathetically small. Poor pay, any man would agree, for all the thought and the time and the care and the work he'd put into that crop.

But now I see him again, working in his leafless orchard. Cutting away the dead wood, shaping his trees to bear a good crop next year. He may be worried. I suppose he is. He may have little hope that he will do better next year than this. His taxes and his mortgage and his family are in the back of his mind all the time, even as he works.... But here's his job and I see him doing it. I see a man working. I see him keeping faith with these trees that he planted, that he brought through all these years to maturity. Keeping faith with himself. Here he is pruning, cutting, away, preparing these trees for the inevitable coming of another spring and summer and autumn.... The crop may fail. Rain may fall at the worst time of the blooming. Frost may freeze the young fruit. Or the crop may be great and the prices small again.... He can't tell about that, can't protect himself against those vicissitudes of fortune. He must do what he can, must work at his job, that brave, wise fool who does what he must do.

So, as I pass and see him there working among his trees, my heart comes up in my throat and I salute that courageous mortal and wish him well and wish I'd half the courage he displays, pruning his trees in the autumn of the year.

AVOID EXPOSURE OF IGNORANCE BY OVERCOMING IGNORANCE

If you were not averse to admitting your ignorance on certain subjects you might become fairly intelligent concerning them.

You know of many ways in which you are deficient, but you will not go to those who are capable of instructing you because of a desire to hide your lack of knowledge.

This has gone on for a period of years, when you might have become conversant with facts which you do not possess.

First you were afraid of losing your position; then, losing that fear, you have been afraid that you might be asked to take a position that would show your ignorance.

You resort to the greatest strategy you could command to avoid the revelation of your limited knowledge.

You have had many disconcerting moments when you had to think about the escape having your ignorance revealed.

All this because you failed to take advantage of the opportunities you have had to gain the knowledge that you know you need.

If you are sensible, within a few months, even now, you might add to your storehouse the rudiments, at least, in the subjects in which you are weak.

NO LIFE

No bills to pay.
No taxes due.
Nothing but play.
A lifetime tough.
No doubts; no fears;
All understood;
All smiles; no tears.
Would that be good?

No tasks to do.
No goals to seek.
No old, no new.
No strong, no weak.
No good, no ill.
No pain to bear.
No place to fill.
No need to care.

No cause to weep.
No clouds above.
No dear, no cheap.
No hate, no love.
No loss, no gain.
No storm, no strife.
No dreams in vain.
That's death, not life!

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES
A certain firm had the following legend printed on its salary receipt forms:

"Your salary is your personal business and should not be disclosed to anyone."

The new employee in signing the receipt added: "I won't mention it to anybody. I'm just as much ashamed of it as you are."

A noted lawyer says crime will end in the United States only when men and women, whose influence extends beyond their own firesides and enlist on the side of order. Those people will also have to be able to regulate their own families also a little bit.

Things might be different if some of those dictators had to get out and dig taters themselves.

The possibility of a landslide so intimidated the inhabitants of a little village that one couple decided to send their son, aged nine, to an uncle until the danger had passed. Three days later they received a telegram: "Am returning boy. Please send landslide instead."

Why spend money to be "different" when you can do it just by keeping your tonsils?

There is a liar club in this country, but all the liars do not belong to it. In fact some of the best ones are just a disorganized mob.

The ignorant man knows less about more things than almost anybody else.

It seems to us that giving the soldiers their bonus would do more good than just giving out the billions in Washington for practically nothing. The soldier lads would spend the money and business would get better right away.

Any physician will tell you a patient with money and fifteen complaints is better to have than fifteen poor patients with one disease each.

One of the funny sights seen on a North Hill lot was a couple of big gray squirrels barking at a dog that was tied and could not reach them.

Who told me this? When the car is idle it is mother's, when it is in use it belongs to the children, and when it is disabled, why then it belongs to father.

More people got married and more people got drunk last year than for some few years. Wonder what that is a sign of?

Americanism: Everybody getting an education so he can think for himself; everybody getting his ideas from somebody's slick propaganda.

Should Americans modernize China? Well, did anybody ever profit by waking up another man's bulldog?

BLOW FOR BLOW
Breezy Westerner, to Tourist—Yes, sir, this sure is God's country and no mistake. It's got everything that heart could wish for—the best people in the United States, the lowest literacy rate, the smallest death rate, no fleas, no mosquitoes, no overpopulated centers, an inexhaustible supply of fresh air, unlimited fishing and hunting, splendid roads, the finest hotels anywhere, five competing railroads with over a hundred trains a day, two through bus lines, two air lines, no bank failures, no depression, business always booming, the prettiest girls in the U. S. A., the finest schools and churches, more than 20 booster clubs and lodges, low taxes, honest officials, no crime wave, empty jails, fine climate which is neither too hot nor too cold and so on and so forth. If it wasn't for just one thing this place would be a better bet than Chicago.

Tourist—And what is that?
Westerner—We have no water here.

Tourist—Oh, that ought to be easy to overcome.
Westerner—How so?
Tourist—Simply run a pipe line up from the Gulf of Mexico. Then, if you can suck as hard as you can, blow, you will soon have enough water to float all the navies of the world.

"Yah, sure," answered Olsen. "And does this government of ours suit you?"

"Well, yah, mostly," stammered the Swede, "only I lak to see more rain."

A VERSE FROM THE BIBLE
I have seen all the works done under the sun; and, behold, all is vanity and vexation of spirit.—Ecclesiastes 1:14.

Tony, a 15-year-old leopard, met his death in a Wisconsin zoo because of untrained love. When he tried to lick the neck of a lioness in the next cage she seized his tongue. His own jaws snapped shut severing his tongue. Despite efforts at feeding him he died of starvation.

While taking his dog to a veterinarian for treatment a California man, Peter Clement, had to be patched up himself after he lost control of his car when the dog jumped into his face and became entangled in the steering wheel. He suffered severe cuts and bruises.

Correct This Sentence: "As soon as my feet began to hurt," said the co-ed, "I quit dancing."

"Yes," said the old man, "I have had some terrible disappointments, but none stands out over the years like one that came to me when I was a boy. "And what was it?" "When I was a boy I crawled under a tent to see the circus, and I discovered it was a revival meeting."

Apparently crooks are doomed, and soon we won't be robbed by anybody but law-abiding citizens.

But what's the use of acquiring good manners when the things desert you the moment you get under a steering wheel.

In youth you are afraid the world will go to the dogs. In old age you think it will if it gets what it deserves.

Never yet has a man seen both sides of a matter if only one promised him a dollar.

Campaign promises are the best selling fiction after all.

The World At A Glance

Road Shows Are Done.
Plays Will Live On.

Central Press.
New York Bureau
235 East 45th Street
By LESLIE EICHE.
Central Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Belief that the theater will come back on "the road" is not shared by this writer.

Expenses on the road are too great.

And public taste on the road for "dash-and-blast" plays has been lost.

The newer generations in the smaller cities never have seen a play—except, perhaps, in metropolitan centers.

There are exceptions to the rule (Katherine Cornell and George M. Cohan are such exceptions this year. Such exceptions always will occur.)

Likewise, a play which has a semi-religious appeal, such as "Green Pastures," at any time, succeed, provided it has universality.

Some places objected to it as blasphemous (although why is beyond this writer). The same objection, however, was held in the beginning against "Ben Hur." Yet "Ben Hur" became the most successful American play in financial intake. "Uncle Tom's Cabin," of course, has been played often.

NEW YORK ALWAYS
Plays will have increasing success in New York—and London.

The dimension of plays will increase. They will be of greater depth, of sterner substance. The appeal will be for an audience of metropolitan inner circles, such as the opera, such as the symphony.

There will be no playing down. This very circumstance will broaden the play's sphere. That may seem paradoxical.

Yet, the vastest audiences today are for opera, for symphonies. As the play climbs upward, it, too, will be admitted to the select radio circle. Entire plays, as well as entire operas, will be heard and probably visualized on the radio.

New York, however, will have the chief stage productions—the productions of flesh and blood.

There may be forays to Chicago, to Boston, to Philadelphia, to Pittsburgh, to Cleveland, to Detroit, to St. Louis, to Baltimore, to Washington, but hardly beyond, rarely in between.

Los Angeles and San Francisco may have their own talent. Elsewhere, the field will be barren. Except for the radio and the motion picture.

LITTLE THEATERS
True, there will be community theaters, little theaters, playhouses. This writer was closely connected with one.

Such theaters are good for the soul, good for the city. They cannot, however, serve as the real thing.

The theater is a difficult art. Only one who has entered its portals can realize how difficult, how exacting.

And it will become a truer art, a still more difficult art.

For America is entering its golden age of plays.

The sweep is unmistakable. The theater is preparing to take its part definitely in American life.

WHAT KIND OF PLAY?
What kind of play will dominate?

What will develop as truly American, as bespeaking the national voice?

We make brave to answer: That play which has an economic, social background.

We do not speak of a propaganda play, nor even one with a single appeal based on those subjects.

We speak of a play as a play, an expression of contemporary life, of contemporary lives, of struggles and hates and loves, of hopes and aspirations, of defeats and dooms, of victories and triumphs.

A play, to be a good play, is a conflict of emotions, a contest of the basic elements of life.

This is the age of economic conflicts, of social emotions. Those elements are intensifying rather than lessening. Even as Shakespeare bled his tragedies on the conflicts of empires as well as the conflicts within a man himself, so, too, will the great American dramatist base his masterpiece on the titanic social and economic struggle that convulses the world.

All else would seem lilliputian, meager.

The best of drama, even as the best of life, is yet to come.

History-up-to-date—Jan. 5, 1589—
Catherine de Medici died at 70. She left her native Italy at 14 to wed one French king, became the mother of three French kings, of one Polish king. Her plotting caused the horrible St. Bartholomew's Day massacre.

Not to be confused with Marie de Medici, another Italian born French queen who conspired herself out of favor and died miserably in a hay loft in Germany.

Jan. 5, 1778—"Battle of the Kegs." The first use of floating mines in American military history. Patriots at Bordentown, N. J. filled kegs with dynamite, sent them floating down the Delaware river toward anchored British warships. One of them struck drifting ice, exploded, and started the British wildly shooting at everything floating in the river. The "battle" continued for 24 hours to the enormous amusement of Americans, who didn't fire a shot.

100 Years Ago Today, Jan. 5, 1835—
The first half of the U. S. was in the icy grip of one of the worst blizzards in its history.

In lower York state in 24 hours there was 20 inches of snow, and the fall continued intermittently until there was a level depth of four feet. Bears came out of their hibernation in Haverstraw because of the intense cold. The whole of Chesapeake Bay was frozen over from Baltimore to Cape Charles. At Bangor, Me., mercury in thermometers fell to 20 below zero.

Key West, Fla., southernmost town in the U. S., shivered.

Today Is The Day

That Sunday always has been the Christian Sabbath. Clarence Greene, San Antonio, Tex., doubts this statement. The word Sunday, which occurs nowhere in the Bible as the first day of the week, dedicated by pagans to worship of the sun. As paganism declined, Sunday became the Lord's Day.

The Fourth Commandment referred to the ancient Jewish Sabbath, which was the 7th day of the week—Saturday. That the New Testament distinguished between the Sabbath and the first day of the week is shown by passages in which the first day is mentioned as following the Sabbath.

Early Christians observed both the Sabbath and first day of the week. In time the Lord's day or Sunday supplanted the Sabbath, and the Fourth Commandment was made applicable to it.

Resolutions Boys Want Girls To Keep

(International News Service)
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 5.—Massachusetts Institute of Technology students have come to the aid of college girls who want to know which New Year's resolutions they should try hardest to keep if they want to please men.
They advise the following:
1—I resolve to use only kiss proof lipstick.
2—I resolve never to hint at a date late in the week, when the boy friend's allowance is at the ebb tide. Rather I shall wait until the end of the month and then make him pay dearly for the postponement.
3—I resolve never to ask the boy friends "where were you last night?"
4—I resolve to remind him with vim and vigor that one hand driving is one of my "Don'ts."

5—I resolve to spend more time learning the art of house-keeping, that I may be better fitted to do my share in stretching the family budget, and not expect to have a maid do all the work for me during the first years of marriage.
6—I resolve to endeavor to tolerate his weakness for other girls, and only hope that by remaining loyal, I shall prove to him the value of devotion.
7—I resolve to want to do what he wants to do, and if he says "let's go skating," just wax enthusiastically, even though my toes are tingling to go dancing.
These were recommended by the M. I. T. boys interviewed by the college paper.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., nine arrests on charges as follows: Violation of parking ordinance 3, exceeding speed limit 1, drunkenness 3, suspicion 2.

City of New Castle is building up quite a sum in the sinking fund, it having been learned that there was $143,068 in the fund November 1, and at present the city is bonded for $877,000. A two mill tax was levied for 1935. According to the schedule set up by council the city will retire $23,000 worth of bonds during 1935 and another $23,000 in 1936. The fund can be used only to retire bonds and pay the interest thereon.

During the repaving process here last summer council passed legislation by which men employed by the city resurfaced some sidewalks and driveways with amiesite. They said this would benefit sidewalk and cartway conditions. After the work was done Controller Wimer requested from the amiesite company an affidavit to the effect that none of the amiesite laid on the private property was paid for by the city. He has received affidavits to this effect.

Council in 1934 adopted an ordinance authorizing improvements here and which would be paid for out of delinquent tax. One hundred thousand dollars worth was set as the cost. During last year $45,610.37 was expended by the city as follows: 50 certificates for amiesite, $25,153.19; cash (labor and supplies) $7,601.77. Expended in connection with RWD projects, 30 certificates totaling $9,370.64 and cash (tools and road supplies) $3,484.71. The balance may be expended this year. The certificates which are being accepted by banks are redeemable in 1936.

There are persons now on the taxpayers payroll who believe that a city manager form of government here would be more satisfactory than the present set-up. At different times they have privately aired their views. These advocates declare the legislature should enact such a law and make it possible for councilmen from each ward to name a manager who would run affairs without thoughts of political advantage. Under their plan only the city manager would draw salary.

When the city borrows from local banking institutions an amount up to $100,000, if necessary, for the payment of current debts, it will be a short term obligation—three months. The city will pay at the rate of six per cent for the favor. It is an annual custom in city hall for council to go to the banks for aid as soon as the new fiscal year starts. This year the fiscal year starts Monday.

HOLD UP CAFE IN SHADOW OF JAIL

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 5.—Three brazen gunmen held up the Star Oyster House, across the street from the Mahoning county jail and less than a block from the city police station, and escaped with $86.

A dozen patrons, in the rear of the restaurant, knew nothing of the holdup. Two gunmen held up Miss Virginia Glaros, cashier, just inside of the front door, while the third man, armed with two guns, stood guard at the door.

Marion Township School Problem

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 5.—A representative group of interested citizens met with the school directors of Marion township last evening in the Hartzell schoolhouse for the purpose of deciding what action should be taken about replacing the Mt. Pleasant school which was recently destroyed by fire.

Mr. Davidson, superintendent of Beaver county schools, presided and he along with the directors favored planning for the erection of a consolidated school, centrally located in the township, to replace the present 4 one-room buildings.

The residents, who desire to have the Mt. Pleasant school rebuilt, were decidedly opposed to the plan for consolidation. At present the pupils are attending half-day sessions at the Nye school, which was an unsatisfactory arrangement to both factions. An agreement was reached to have the pupils of both schools, whose combined enrollment totals 38, to attend full day session at the Nye school with each teacher having charge of her own group.

Raymond John, Wilbur Pfingh, Edward Albert, Howard McDanel and Mrs. Ford are the directors of the township.

Aliquippa Trims Ellwood City Hi

Blue And White Takes 42-24 Shellacking At Lincoln Gym Last Night

Maravich Is Sensational With 22 Point; Ellwood Reserves Lose 27-18

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 5.—With one of the most dazzling individual performances ever seen here, Aliquippa High school trimmed Ellwood City High 42-24 last night at Lincoln gym when their star forward, Maravich counted up over half of his team mates points by rolling up 22 of them.

The Benedictmen could find no way to stop this dead shot as he rang up baskets in every period. He was all a coach could desire—fast, a dead shot, and a clever floor worker. He was the sole difference between the two teams. Both teams were exceptionally good from the foul line.

The first period showed indications of a good game as neither team could get an edge for a while. Late in the period Maravich went to work and counted up three consecutive baskets and a foul to give the Lippemans 14-7 lead at the close of the quarter. The visitors went to work seriously in the second stanza and at the close had their lead doubled again. A fast passing attack and unerring shooting was responsible for this. The count at the half was 25-14. Aliquippa continued to outplay the Ellwoodians in the third quarter when the score was 37-19. Only in the last period were the locals able to check the invaders when each scored five points to make the final count 42-24.

Mareus, Captain Robuck, Cole, and Lutenberg played a good game for the Tubers. W. Philipovich, so accredited himself well for Aliquippa.

Reserves Lose
The Ellwood City High Reserves lost a hard fought game to the Aliquippa Reserves in the preliminary game by a 27-18 score. Tibotele was outstanding for the victors with 15 points, and was mostly responsible for the victory. Metz, Pishonieri, and Morrison were good for Ellwood.

sent Mr. Adams. He said to the board that the man had been dismissed without just cause. Charles L. Bentley, the foreman on the project in question said that Adams had missed considerable time and had been dismissed upon a recommendation from the general office. Bentley's testimony was corroborated by L. S. Hill the timekeeper, who placed in testimony the record of Adams' absences.

In his own behalf Adams said that he had been sick a number of days and that he had not thought to bring a doctor's certificate to show cause. He also said that other men had missed as much time as he had but had not been dismissed.

After considering the evidence presented, the Board of Appeals arrived at a decision shortly after noon today. Adams is censured for his failure to report to work but is declared eligible for placing on projects, which is tantamount to revoking his dismissal order.

Well Known Dog, "Big Boy," Dies

Big Boy, whose joy was to serve, will serve no longer.

The German shepherd, owned by Edward Manning, Fairmont avenue extension, known all over the district, died after three days of agony from round glass fed to him in the garage of his home on New Year's eve.

Big Boy built up a reputation for himself that few dogs could equal. He could be sent to the store for meat, and carry it home safely. He could close the door, and hidden articles, bag, roll over, preach and say his "prayers". Boys who swim during the summer in the Shenango river near the water works knew him by his trick of pulling them out of the river at their calls for "help".

The dog would dive off board, swim out, allow supposed drowning boy to catch hold of his tail and then tow him in to shore. He would do this for several hours at a time.

A Mother's Ordeal.
Experts Disagree.
Steal Away To Karl Marx?
Religions And Government.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

IT WAS pitiful to see Mrs. Lindbergh at the Hauptmann trial, called to testify and weeping bitterly as the prosecutor, pointing his finger at Hauptmann, declared that the infant had been crushed in the flight of the kidnaper. Mrs. Lindbergh was questioned in detail about the child.

"Was he a perfectly normal child?" asked Attorney General Wilentz.

"Yes."
"What was the color of his hair?"
"Golden."
"Curly?"
"Yes."

Reporters tell you: "Mrs. Lindbergh choked back a sob and then, after a quick look around the courtroom, smiled wanly."
She might have been spared that ordeal.

HANDWRITING experts will testify that the Lindbergh kidnaper's letters were written by Hauptmann. Another set of experts, brought from St. Louis by the defense, will show that the letters were written by Isidor Fisch, alleged by Hauptmann to have given him the ransom money before he went to Germany, where he died.

When experts disagree, judge and jury will use common sense. Reproductions of the various handwritings, greatly magnified, would enable the jury to form an opinion for themselves. No man can disguise his handwriting completely.

THE RUSSIAN government dismisses six important Soviet radio officials for allowing a phonograph record of a "baneful item" to go on the air. That "baneful" item was a "spiritual" sung by a talented American Negro singer, Paul Robeson. This is what Russia calls a "baneful item."

"Steal away, steal away. Steal away to Jesus. Steal away, steal away home; I ain't got long to stay here. My lord's a-calling. He calls me by the thunder. The trumpet sounds within my soul."
"I ain't got long to stay here." It was said in defense of the unfortunate radio officials that they thought Mr. Robeson's song was a protest against cruel treatment of the Negro race by the capitalist government of the United States. Nonetheless, they were discharged for letting a "class enemy find his way to a Soviet microphone."
Does Russian imagine that Mr. Robeson's spiritual could be satisfactorily replaced by another, beginning: "Steal away, steal away. Steal away to Karl Marx?"

A BILL has been introduced in New York's Legislature to compel co-operation between government forces and various religious groups, Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, to prevent distribution of alleged "immoral movies."
Immoral movies should be suppressed; national and state authorities should see to it. But the advisability of connecting religious bodies with execution of the law, making them, as it were, a part of government, is questionable.
The early American plan calling for complete separation of church and state, in government, has worked well thus far. There is trouble in other countries where that separation has not existed.

CURIOUS PEOPLE, the Russians, insisting on being honest in queer ways. We reduce the price of our dollar and our creditors must accept cheap dollars, "and like it."
France cut eighty per cent from the value of her franc, and Englishmen that patriotically invested tens of millions in French bonds got back twenty per cent of their loan. Even so, they are twenty per cent better off than the American government that lent to Great Britain.
Along comes Russia, paying interest on her seven per cent gold bonds held in the United States, and insisting on adding forty-one cents to the interest on every coupon because our dollar is cheaper. Let "best minds" explain that queer honesty.

STATES ARE asked to change the criminal law, to punish indecency practiced under the guise of nudism, a wise and just effort to discourage the preposterous cult of nakedness.
It emphasizes the old truth that the intention determines the character of an act.
Adam and Eve, our original parents, made each other's acquaintance in the garden entirely undressed. There was not a dressmaker or a clothing store on earth, and none would have been needed had Eve obeyed orders.
But she did not, and the innocent nakedness which ended when she bit into the apple can never return. Even if perfectly innocent nudism were conceivable, after "the fall," think what it would mean in the way of increased unemployment.

THE END of prohibition has not yielded all that was promised and hoped for in reform and in cash. Two-thirds of all the whiskey sold is still bootleg whiskey. That cheats Uncle Sam and poisons many with bad whiskey.

In big New York City, many went to hospitals after a "gay" New Year's eve. It is little consolation to know that the number of alcoholism cases was somewhat smaller than during prohibition years.

Americanism: Gracefully submitting to discipline in time of national emergency; cussing official meddlers when the danger is past.

New Castle High Faltered After Leading In First Half Of Section Battle

NE-CA-HI RESERVES WIN THEIR BATTLE

NEW BRIGHTON, Jan. 5.—New Brighton high school basketball team started out the 1935 section three W. P. I. A. L. season last night with a 19 to 16 uphill battle over New Castle high, the section champions last year. New Castle faltered after a good start and New Brighton rallied in the third and fourth periods to win the game.

At the end of the first period New Castle led 8 to 4, mainly through the fine work of Henry Koszela, Tuscano and Ostrosky. The end of the first half found New Castle at 13 to 7, with Koszela the big scoring star from three field goals.

Kredel-Sayre Stars. So close a guarding game did the valley team play in the third and fourth periods that New Castle was held scoreless from the field, except for a trio of charity throws would not have scored a point.

Kredel and Sayre were the thorns in the side of New Castle in the second half of the game. Sayre was high man with seven points, while Kredel had five points and Koszela led the "ew Castle team with six points.

In the preliminary game the New Castle high reserves handed the New Brighton high reserves a 27 to 14 defeat, with Eddie Ostrosky, DeCaprio and Adamo doing the bulk of the scoring.

Capitol Has Chuckle Over Senate March Of 'Jim' Davis And Guffey

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—The Capitol won't stop chuckling for a long time over the appearance made on the first day this session of Pennsylvania's senators "Puddler Jim" Davis and Joseph "Boss" Guffey marching down the center aisle of the senate chamber arm in arm.

For some reason or other the appearance of the two men in such intimate pose brought grins of delight from spectators' galleries.

When the time came for Mr. Guffey to take the oath of office, Senator Davis gallantly stepped to the center aisle and proffered his arm to Guffey. Guffey accepted it, and heads back, chests expanded, tails coiled and striped morning trousers creased sharply the two marched down the aisle to the vice president's rostrum. Rather than the bitterness of political enemies, they resembled two conservative bankers strolling out to dine.

But with the oath administered, the gallantry of "Puddler Jim" didn't end. With Guffey still on his arm he strode back up the aisle, around the chamber to a far corner where Guffey's seat was located, and, pulling out Guffey's chair, bowed for him to be seated. Guffey sat down, and Mr. Davis graciously eased the seat back into place before the desk. It was all such a farce, carried on with so complete ironic courtesy by both participants that the galleries roared their approval.

From now on the Capital City will be watching Mr. Guffey rather than Republican Senator Davis. Guffey, in fact, is regarded out here as just about the biggest boss in the administration. He stands in high favor with the president, he probably wields more influence than any other senator on Capitol Hill, and with the powerful Pennsylvania Democratic House delegation at his beck and call, he has become no man to be disregarded by anyone who wants to go places.

Work Projects To Be Provided In Regions According To Needs

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Roosevelt's plan to substitute work relief for the dole calls for a complete shut-down on direct federal relief within six months.

By June 30, the President wants his proposed joint work relief-public works program underway and carrying a payroll of 3,500,000 workers now on straight relief.

At the same time, the executive expects the 1,500,000 unemployed of whom he plans to strip federal relief rolls, to be back on the hands of the states, municipalities, and private relief agencies.

To Disclose Plans These plans will be disclosed when Mr. Roosevelt within the next few days send to congress his legislative suggestions for setting up the new program.

When it is all carried through, Harry L. Hopkins, now in charge of federal emergency relief, will loom as an even larger figure in the New Deal than he is today. He will have an important say in the allocation of money for new public works projects. The reason for this lies in the fact the President wants public works distributed with considerable regard for the unemployment of the various localities throughout the nation.

The work of paring down the emergency relief rolls and building up the work relief rolls of public works will begin as soon as congress enacts legislation for the new setup. The President believes it can all be completed by the end of the current fiscal year. Then, direct relief will be a thing of the past.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Standing on the corner of East Long avenue and South Mill street, on Friday afternoon, watching a number of motorists disregard the light, several aged citizens of the South Side looked at Young P. New and remarked: "Some drivers wonder why they receive tags." Two motorists went through the light at a rate of 35 miles an hour, it was estimated.

What Boy Scouts can do with Christmas trees just can't be imagined. We're told that different talented boys have fashioned a variety of useful things out of trees which decorated homes during the holidays. Perhaps in your backyard is a tree which some neighborhood youngster would like for the same purpose.

Well, everyone seems to be wondering these days just how long New Castle's old post office will remain vacant. It certainly looks dark at night.

At the Federal building you're saved the job of guessing where offices are located now because a directory locates them for you. As yet only three second floor offices are occupied but within another week there will be more tenants.

Films that have entertained several hundred New Castle citizens, young and old, during the past week or so are those which M. L. Nixon, naval recruiter here, received from U. S. Navy headquarters in Pittsburgh. (Continued On Page Two)

AS PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DELIVERED MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Outlining his recommendations for action by the legislative body, President Franklin D. Roosevelt is shown as he delivered his message to the seventy-fourth congress. The chief executive advocated that unemployed now on relief rolls be given work by the federal government. Vice President John N. Garner, left, and Speaker Joseph Byrnes are seated behind the president.

Shaw Is Named By Supervisors

Washington Township Man To Head Organization For Year

RESOLUTIONS ARE PASSED AT SESSION

State Senator Batchelor Is Among Those On Program Of Afternoon

John B. Shaw of Washington township will head the Supervisors and Auditors Association of Lawrence County for the coming year, his election being consummated Friday afternoon at the convention held in the court house.

Dr. Frederick Taylor of Pulaski township and R. E. Conway of North Beaver township were elected as delegates to the annual state convention of supervisors to be held February 12 and 13 in Harrisburg.

Several resolutions were passed by the delegates before the close of the convention. For the most part they had to do with requests for more money for road supervisors. One resolution urged the amending of the Parkinson Act so that the $117 per mile allowed for township roads should be paid to the supervisors instead of being handled by the State Highway department.

Another would have an act similar to the Williamson Act passed in the 1935 session of the General Assembly. (Continued On Page Two)

Gangster's Widow Is Chief Witness

"Baby Face" Nelson's Widow Gives Evidence Against Dillinger Gangster

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—With the help of George "Baby Face" Nelson's widow, federal officials today were setting the stage for the trial and possible death sentence of another accused Dillinger gangster.

Appearing before the federal grand jury Mrs. Helen Gillis, Nelson's widow, told of the machine gun battle at Barrington, Ill., Nov. 27 in which federal agents Samuel Cowley and Herman Hollis were killed and her husband fatally wounded.

Mrs. Gillis, alleged companion in the gun battle, John Paul Chase, is already under indictment for the murder of Hollis, and United States Attorney Dwight Green today sought a second indictment against Chase for the murder of Cowley.

Mrs. Gillis, who witnessed the gun battle from a nearby ditch, was reported to have given the grand jurors an eyewitness account of the bloody gun-play. Heavily guarded by federal agents, Mrs. Gillis was brought here from the Milan, Mich., prison farm.

Leaders In Congress Will Rush Legislation On President's Program

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Senate and House leaders today rushed work on legislation to put in effect President Roosevelt's 1935-36 program, following a conference at the White House lasting well into the night.

Immediate legislation will be drafted, including: 1. Transfer of $880,000,000 in unexpended appropriations under various heads to finance unemployment relief until April; 2. A new public works program to begin by April; 2. A single bill embodying the President's ideas on "security," which includes old-age pensions, unemployed insurance and similar plans;

4. Special bills and legislation putting into effect other details of the program outlined in the President's message. Relief funds were put first, Senator Robinson, Democratic floor leader, explained, because current available money is almost exhausted. He estimated $880,000,000 could be scraped together from existing unexpended appropriations and transferred by necessary legislation for this purpose.

He explained that this amount would necessarily be expended, but would carry unemployment relief until workers could be absorbed in the new program.

For the first time since beer and liquor became legal the city of New Castle health department has started a survey of sanitary conditions in places where intoxicating beverages and food are served.

The survey got under way yesterday, and today Safety Director David O. Davies was informed that the investigators already had investigated conditions in 40 places. More than one hundred will be visited.

The inspectors are Harold Dunlap of the plumbing bureau and Howard Phillips of the health bureau. Dunlap is the inspector of plumbing and Phillips has temporarily been assigned duty as a sanitary policeman.

Any violation of the health laws of the city is noted and inscribed on records which daily are turned over to Davies and conditions will be ordered alleviated, if necessary. Should the proprietors of such places not alleviate conditions complained of, applications or renewal of licenses will not be granted in the future, Director Davies declared today.

Allegheny River Near Flood Stage

(International News Service) BRADFORD, Pa., Jan. 5.—Fearful of a sudden thaw, residents along the upper Allegheny river prepared today for any flood emergency resulting from an ice jam which this week caused two highways to be covered by water.

Although receding, water still covered the Warren-Bradford highway and a spur leading to the Cornplanter Indian reservation. Motorists were permitted to travel at their own risk.

It was feared that a quick thaw might release a torrent of flood waters, now dormant as an ice pack.

Two In County Receive Patents

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—Kirk C. Rupp of New Castle and Donald N. Uebelhart of Ellwood City have just been awarded patent rights on inventions of their own design, the United States patent office announces.

Mr. Rupp has been granted protection on a design for a collar holder, so constructed as to hold a collar in place beneath the necktie. He applied for the patent September 25, 1934, and has been guaranteed protection for seven years.

To Mr. Uebelhart has gone the patent rights on a novel tube draw bench which he has assigned to the National Tube company. He applied for the patent November 16, 1932, and has been allowed protection on four features of the invention.

Find Student Dead At Indiana

(International News Service) INDIANA, Pa., Jan. 5.—Leonard E. Thomas, 20-year-old Indiana State Teachers college student found dead in bed at his fraternity house, died as the result of an epileptic convulsion, Coroner John Woods disclosed today.

An autopsy was performed last night after three of Thomas' fraternity brothers had found him dead in the quarter's room at the Phi Sigma Pi fraternity.

Defense Counsel Casts Shadow Of Suspicion On Hopewell Employees

By KENNETH T. DOWNS International News Service Staff Correspondent

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 5.—Edward J. Reilly, a master showman of the courtroom, today had cast the shadow of suspicion on at least seven other persons in an attempt to save from the electric chair Bruno Richard Hauptmann, on trial for the murder of baby Lindbergh.

By innuendo, so bold at times as to amount almost to accusation, the chief defense counsel showed, in his cross-examination of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, how it may have been possible for others than his client to have kidnapped the baby; how much easier it might have been for some of them to do it; how at least one of these persons might have had a motive for the crime.

His most sensational insinuation was leveled against Dr. J. F. (Jafise) Condon, aged Bronx educator, who entered the Lindbergh case after its

Laval And Mussolini In Conference At Rome

(International News Service) ROME, Jan. 5.—In an atmosphere of cordiality Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France today held the first of a series of conversations with Premier Benito Mussolini at his office in the Venetian Palace.

While no announcement was immediately forthcoming as to the subject of today's talk, it was reliably understood that the two statesmen plunged immediately into the important question of Austrian independence.

A joint declaration that Austrian integrity must be maintained is expected to be followed by a proposal that France and Austria's contiguous neighbors agree not to interfere with each other internally.

Besides a closer Franco-Italian rapprochement, the way will probably be opened for closer cooperation in such matters as the trade of the Danubian countries.

One report today said that France would offer Italy a free hand in African expansion, particularly in Abyssinia.

The conversations, which will undoubtedly have a great influence on European tranquility, will be resumed tomorrow.

Storm Is Raging On Pacific Coast

Storm Warnings Posted From Golden Gate To British Columbia

(International News Service) SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 5.—Storm warnings were flying along the Pacific coast from the Golden Gate to British Columbia today.

The coast guard transferred four men aboard the fishing boat Virginia III to a cutter after the vessel was dashed upon the Point Reyes rocks. The four-masted Mary Dollar drifted 30 miles to Drake's Bay. The Mary Dollar was in tow of the steam schooner Dan F. Hanlon when heavy seas snapped the tow line. Fate of the Dan F. Hanlon and her crew of 25 was cloaked in mystery.

The storm was accompanied by high winds and for six hours San Quentin prison was cut off from telephone communication. Blizzards were reported in the 1-2 Sierra.

Postal Business In 1934 Gained $16,150

New Castle Office Report Reveals Business Exceeded $155,996

Receipts at New Castle's post office were $16,150.14 greater in 1934 than they were in 1933, Assistant Postmaster James G. Leslie announced today.

During the 1934 calendar year the receipts reached $155,996.43 as compared to $139,846.29 for 1933.

Officials today were busy compiling the local reports for the second quarter of the 1934-35 fiscal year which closes next June 30. It is the receipts of the fiscal year and not the calendar that form the basis upon which the postmaster's salary and other items are established.

Prisoner Smokes Incessantly In Cell As He Awaits Trial Resumption

NO COURT SESSION BEING HELD TODAY

Sensational Trial To Resume On Monday Morning Betty Gow To Be Called

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN International News Service Staff Correspondent

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 5.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann today was figuratively reeling from hammer blows dealt him by the state at his trial for the murder of the Lindbergh baby.

The furtive, poker-faced ex-convict has had a bad week in court. His trial adjourned until Monday, he was alone with his thoughts today as he paced his cell in the Hunterdon county jail, smoking incessantly and hiding his feelings. His guards thought he seemed a bit shaken by the dramatic happenings of the past few days but they were not sure. Nobody can quite figure Bruno Hauptmann.

Shove Towards Chair

Hauptmann saw no less a personage than Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh give him a shove in the direction of the electric chair when he twice accused him of the kidnapping and murder of his son. First, when Lindbergh said it was Hauptmann's voice he heard in St. Raymond's cemetery calling "hey, doctor" to Dr. John F. (Jafise) Condon, when Condon was delivering

His summer game is not so good, he does not bother par, he three putts greens, he plays the rough, his drives are never far. He breaks a drundred now and then on courses that he knows, but what a game this fellow plays when greens are white with snow. He is an arm chair golfer then and what a game he plays, his drives are far, his putts are true, he leaves you in a daze to hear him tell of eagle holes, for arm chair golf is fun, but no one wins a cup for them, the weather's thirty and (Special To The News) HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 5.—When I wasn't making faces at a movie camera this morning I was hustling out to hear the president's message on the radio in the car.

I don't blame him for bringing his message up in person. It would have been a shame to have to turn that over to some reading clerk. They read good, but they're not like that baby.

It wouldn't ever do any good to try to impeach Roosevelt. All he would have to do would be to go on the radio and the whole thing would die out.

When he hit those "holding companies" he must have hit a popular note, for I could hear even a few scattering Republican hands.

He dug up three new initials for a new unemployment work program. "Big business" had its ear to the ground, but all they got in it was dust.

Yours,

Will Rogers.

Capitol Has Chuckle Over Senate March Of 'Jim' Davis And Guffey

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 5.—The Capitol won't stop chuckling for a long time over the appearance made on the first day this session of Pennsylvania's senators "Puddler Jim" Davis and Joseph "Boss" Guffey marching down the center aisle of the senate chamber arm in arm. For some reason or other the appearance of the two men in such intimate pose brought grins of delight from spectators' galleries.

When the time came for Mr. Guffey to take the oath of office, Senator Davis gallantly stepped to the center aisle and proffered his arm to Guffey. Guffey accepted it, and heads back, chests expanded, tails coiled and stripped morning trousers creased sharply the two marched down the aisle to the vice president's rostrum. Rather than the bitterest of political enemies, they resembled two conservative bankers strolling out to dine.

But with the oath administered, the gallantry of "Puddler Jim" didn't end. With Guffey still on his arm he strode back up the aisle, around the chamber to a far corner where Guffey's seat was located, and pulling out Guffey's chair, bowed for him to be seated. Guffey sat down, and Mr. Davis gracefully stepped the seat back into place before the desk. It was all such a farce, carried on with so complete ironic courtesy by both participants that the galleries roared their approval.

From now on the Capital City will be watching Mr. Guffey rather than Republican Senator Davis. Guffey, in fact, is regarded out here as just about the biggest boss in the administration. He stands in high favor with the president, he probably wields more influence than any other senator on Capitol Hill, and with the powerful Pennsylvania Democratic House delegation at his beck and call, he has become no man to be disregarded by anyone who wants to go places.

STATE TO SEEK HUGE ESTATE

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 5.—Three Philadelphia attorneys have been retained by the commonwealth to handle Pennsylvania's claim that the $16,000,000 estate of Henrietta E. Garrett, Philadelphia, should be paid to the state treasury, according to an announcement today from Attorney General William A. Schnader.

The state claims almost the entire estate because Mrs. Garrett is alleged to have died without living heirs. Claims have been advanced, however, by 5,000 persons. Those retained to represent the state are Emanuel W. Belfoff, David Bortin and Chester N. Farr, Jr.

Strain and set aside to cool. Vegetables, pepper and salt will make it into delicious soup.
